DIRECTIONS FOR TRAVEL BROCHURE

Directions: Imagine you work for a travel agency that offers time-travel packages to great ancient civilizations. Work with your team members to create a travel brochure advertising a visit to the ancient civilization that developed in the Indus Valley. The brochure should provide travelers with information on the location, government, religion, agriculture, cultural and scientific contributions that they would see in ancient India. Create a colorful, informative brochure to entice your customers to travel back in time and visit the Indus Valley.

Include the following information:

a. Location: An explanation of the location of the Indus Valley. How would a traveler get to this place? What is the climate like?

b. Religion: An overview of the religion and the religious practices of the area.

What would a visitor need to know about religious customs?

c. Agriculture: What crops and livestock were raised in this area? Were these items used solely for survival or were they traded for other goods?

d. Culture: Describe cultural contributions that came from the Indus Valley.

What are the legacies they have passed down through history?

e. Science: Describe scientific contributions that developed in the Indus Valley.

How have these gifts aided future civilizations?

Requirements:

• Create a trifold brochure by folding a piece of white 8 1/2" x 11" paper into thirds.

English: Class V

Winners don't do different things, they do things differently.

1. Make A Book Report Sandwich.

Ingredients:

- Draw slices of cucumber, tomato, and cheese; lettuce leaves; a layer of butter, and a couple of slices of bread.
- Photocopy or make your drawings on appropriately colored sheets of paper -- cucumber on green, tomato on red, cheese on yellow, etc.

Recipe :

The sheets will serve as the ingredients for your book report sandwiches. On the top slice of bread, write the titles and the author of the books

1. The frog and the fish
2. How frog went to heaven

On the lettuce, write a brief summary of the book. Write about the main character on the tomato slice. On the butter, describe the book's setting. Share the book's climax on the cheese. On the cucumber slice, describe the plot. On the bottom piece of bread, draw a favorite scene from the story. Staple together the sandwich layers.

Q 2. Journal writing: Write about interesting things you did/ interesting films you saw/ interesting places you visited/ etc during the summer holidays. Write at least a page fortnightly.

Q 3. Let us create some new words, put on your thinking caps and search the meaning of the following word in dictionary floccinaucinihilipilification

Make as many words of four letters as you can from the word given.

Q 4. Let's do something interesting, you can find these facts and amaze your friends with your knowledge

- Find a seven letter word in the English language that contains ten words without rearranging any of its letters.
